CONTENT

Unit One: Grammar and Other Topics
All lessons within this unit teach students how to identify and apply parts of speech. Content is divided into two sections:

I. Parts of Speech
   A. Identify Parts of Speech
   B. Common Problems
II. Tools for Effective Communication
   A. Apply Parts of Speech
   B. Apply Sentence Structure
   C. Apply Figurative Language

Unit Two: Composition
In this unit, students explore many different types of compositions, focusing on the parts of compositions, the writing process, and applying effective writing tools.

Students write with Mr. Stephens in a step-by-step modeled approach to composition. During the video lessons, Mr. Stephens teaches students information and techniques and models how to perform each step of the writing process for individual compositions. Students apply what they learn from the video lesson and information presented in the textbook.

Step-by-Step/Model: Through a step-by-step, repetitive process, students internalize the writing process and learn how to perform each step. Additionally, Mr. Stephens models the steps of each composition, showing students “how” to complete them.

Immediate Application: By focusing on each step of the writing process through short, modeled lessons with immediate application, students apply what they learn immediately without becoming overwhelmed by other steps and/or forgetting previous steps. This method increases retention.

ASSESSMENTS
A separate Assessment/Resource Booklet is available for purchase. The booklet contains:
- 27 assessments
- 2 comprehensive unit assessments
- resource wordlist
- additional organizers
ACTIVITIES AND ICONS

In Unit One, students learn to identify and apply the parts of speech.

Identify activities help students learn to identify parts of speech in written language.

Apply activities help students identify and apply parts of speech that are tools to aid in effectively communicating with written language. This provides students with tools they will use when writing in Unit Two.

Progression of identify and apply activities within each practice session:
1. Students identify parts of speech in sentences.
2. Students apply what they have learned through fill-in-the-blank activities.
3. Students identify parts of speech in written compositions.
4. Students apply what they have learned through fill-in-the-blank, writing sentences, and/or written composition activities.

Grammar Section Toolbox – In Unit One, the toolbox will be present on all “apply” activities. The toolbox serves as a reminder to students that the skills practiced on the page are tools to help them communicate effectively in writing. In Unit Two, the toolbox reminds students when revising compositions to use their writing “tools” to improve communication.

The Writing Process – The icons remind students which step of the writing process they are completing.

- BRAINSTORM
- ORGANIZE
- DRAFT
- REVISE
- PUBLISH

Extra Practice – After all steps of each composition have been complete and parents or teachers have completed the checklist, students have the opportunity to practice writing another composition of the same type. They read the prompt on the “Extra Practice” page, and, just as before, watch each video lesson before completing each step of the writing process for the new composition. When organizing thoughts, students may draw graphic organizers on notebook paper or use additional organizers provided in the Assessment/Resource Booklet.

Resource Folder – In Lesson 22, students are asked to begin creating a “Discarded Word List” and place it in a resource folder. In Unit 2, students are asked to update the word list after each composition. This serves to build a resource file that is helpful for effective communication in the coming lessons and years.
SCORING COMPOSITIONS

Scoring written compositions can be challenging due to their subjective nature. Ultimately, I encourage you to do what works for you, your student, and/or your schooling situation. If you already use a method to score written compositions, stick with it. Along the way, try new methods.

If you use the checklists provided, focus primarily on completion and conversation. Use the checklist as a guide to discuss how effective or ineffective the composition is as a whole and strengths and weaknesses evident in the composition.

There are several different ways to utilize the checklist and hold discussions:

1. Student completes the checklist before turning in the assignment. The teacher spot-checks a few items and asks the student to point to different items on the checklist evident in the composition and explain why the item was checked.

   Teacher: “I see you marked that your narrative contains transitions. Show me your transitions.” -Student points to the transitions.

2. Teacher checks each item and assigns a grade. This works well when time is limited. Assign a letter grade based the overall composition using the sample composition provided in the key as a guide. Discuss one or more areas that may or may not include suggestions or requested revision.

   After completing the checklist, the teacher might say and ask something like:

   “I noticed that your hook for your opening paragraph of the expository essay is weak. I think it is weak because you didn’t grab my attention. What do you think you could add or change that might help grab my attention?”

3. Assign a completion grade. Use the checklist as a guide to make sure the assignment is complete. Assign any letter grade based on the fact that the student followed each step of the writing process and the composition contains all parts indicated in the checklist.

   This option works well when time is limited and the teacher and student want to move on to the next composition.

Scoring services are available for purchase for levels 9-12. Running from August 1 to May 15 each school year, a certified member of our curriculum department will score written compositions for any or all assignments presented in each level purchased. Visit our website for more information.
HOW TO USE

1. View the video lesson.
2. Read the text for today’s lesson.
3. Complete the assignment.
4. Verbally describe today’s lesson and preview the next lesson.

How long should my student spend on one lesson?
Depending on the topic and the student, there are many different variables to consider in such a question. Typically, a good rule to follow is: Do not complete the worksheets/assignment sheets unless the student understands the concepts presented in the video lesson. Students may need to watch the video more than once. After an understanding of the new concept is evident, students will complete the activity.

Textbook/Workbook Format
Video lessons and textbook/workbook lessons correspond by title and number.

Lesson numbers indicate individual days unless the calendar icon is shown. See example below.

(Please note numerical references are for examples only.)

Lesson 8 (no calendar shown because this lesson has only one written activity)
1. Preview Lesson 8 in the textbook/workbook.
2. Watch Video Lesson 8.
3. Complete Lesson 8 written work.
4. Explain what you learned and preview the next lesson (Lesson 9).

Lesson 9 Day 1 (“Day 1” calendar shown because this lesson has more than one written activity)
1. Preview Lesson 9 Day 1 in the textbook/workbook.
2. Watch Video Lesson 9.
3. Complete Lesson 9 written work for all days with Day 1 calendar icon present.
4. Explain what you learned and preview next activity (Lesson 9 Day 2).

Lesson 9 Day 2 (“Day 2” calendar shown because this lesson has more than one written activity)
1. Preview Lesson 9 Day 2 in the textbook/workbook.
2. Watch Lesson 9 video again.
3. Complete Lesson 9 written work for all days with Day 2 calendar icon present.
4. Explain what you learned and preview next activity (Lesson 10 Day 1).

Lesson 10 (no calendar shown because this lesson has only one written activity)
1. Preview Lesson 10 in the textbook/workbook.
2. Watch Video Lesson 10.
3. Complete Lesson 10 written work.
4. Explain what you learned and preview the next activity (Lesson 11 Day 1).

Answer Key
Because some activities require students to compose sentences, paragraphs, letters, essays and such, “Answers may vary” precede such sample compositions. The samples provided are simply for comparison and reference.
Lesson 19 – Action Verbs in Action

An action verb is a word that shows the action of the subject. It is a tool to communicate effectively with the reader. Choosing an appropriate action verb is important in communicating in written language.

Using creative action verbs makes your sentences more interesting and more effective. A specific action verb will communicate more meaning and help create descriptive sentences.

Less descriptive: I gave her the paper and walked back to my seat.

More descriptive: I tossed her the paper and strode back to my seat. (See how this sentence conveys a more specific attitude than the first sentence?)

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Look at the examples below and notice how each sentence is improved by the new action verb.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

I sat down at my desk.
I plopped down at my desk.

I looked at the bowl of peas.
I grimaced at the bowl of peas.

Mark gave a sigh and put his backpack on his bed.
Mark heaved a sigh and threw his backpack on his bed.

Did You Know?

Just because a certain action verb seems to fit in a sentence and cover the basics of what you are trying to say does not mean it is always the best choice.
Ruthie walked along the path and pulled at her dog’s leash.
Ruthie strolled along the path and tugged at her dog’s leash.

Lesson 19 – Action Verbs in Action

Lesson 19 – Action Verbs in Action

Beware! Dangerous Words Ahead!

Some action verbs should be avoided in your writing because they are too bland to properly describe action or they have been used too much in speaking or writing and have lost their effectiveness. Some of these words are feel, get, go, have, look, say, sit, walk, and want. When you are writing, use a thesaurus to find words that are more descriptive.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Instead of…</th>
<th>Try one of these…</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>feel</td>
<td>perceive, sense, consider, appear, discern, touch, stroke</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>get</td>
<td>acquire, obtain, apprehend, receive, collect, gather</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>go</td>
<td>depart, withdraw, advance, proceed, journey, charge</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>look</td>
<td>glance, gaze, peek, examine, ogle, consider, observe, scan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>say</td>
<td>utter, vocalize, shout, mutter, mumble, declare, respond, add</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Lesson 19 – Action Verbs in Action

Some action verbs are not as descriptive as others because they can have multiple meanings or have been used too frequently in speech and writing. Avoid these in your writing.

The sentences below contain one action verb. Circle it and decide if it is boring or descriptive. If it is boring, write “B” in the blank; if it is descriptive, write “D.”

1. I got the special kind of peanut butter at the store.       _____
2. He questioned the methods of his math workbook.    _____
3. Look at the preview of this new movie.                  _____
4. The cat walked on top of the messy table.               _____
5. The orange cones impeded the flow of traffic.           _____
6. The miniature pony pranced around the yard.             _____
7. The sunbeams radiated through the open window.          _____
8. Sit down on that couch over there.                     _____
9. The little girls want a hippopotamus for Christmas.     _____
10. I penned my thoughts in my journal.                    _____
11. The contestants ran as fast as they could.

12. She smacked the ball way out in center field!

Use a thesaurus to replace action verbs that are common or bland.
Remove this page and place it in your resource folder.

Common action verb: Eli walked down the aisle. 😞 (boring and vague)

Better action verb: Eli strutted down the aisle. 😊 (effective adjective)

Instead of… Try one of these…

went hit

think smiled

Lesson 19 – Action Verbs in Action

An action verb is a word that shows the action of the subject. It is a tool to communicate effectively with the reader. Choosing an appropriate action verb is important in communicating in written language.

Underline the verbs in the sentences. Then, look them up in a thesaurus and choose a verb that is more expressive. Rewrite the paragraph using the verb you chose. More is not always better.

Something pulled at the end of Mona’s fishing line. She pulled back. Then, the fish pulled back. Quickly, Mona reeled in her catch. She yanked and pulled until finally she saw her big catch on the shore!

Lesson 37 – Persuasive Paragraph

Brainstorm

Persuasive writing convinces a reader using facts and examples to support an opinion.

Not knowing what to write about can be frustrating and time consuming. Selecting a topic based on your prompt using certain tools will make this step in the writing process a manageable task.

Brainstorming is an effective tool to use when choosing a topic. Start by brainstorming a broad range of ideas, and then narrow your ideas to a single topic.

Read the prompt. Then, brainstorm your ideas using the graphic organizer and choose a topic.

What is the best month of the year? Why? Write a persuasive paragraph to detail your answer.

Make a list of your favorite days of the week.

Next, choose three days from the list and record them in the boxes below.

Finally, eliminate two days and record your final choice in the box below. This will be the topic of your paragraph.
Lesson 37 – Persuasive Paragraph
Organize

It is very important to plan before you write. Your plan will help you to continue in the direction that you want your writing to go and avoid getting off topic. A plan provides you with a solid foundation of content that, when organized, will create the framework of your writing.

You need to plan your opening sentence, several supporting sentences (the details and examples that make up the body of your paragraph), and your closing sentence. Your plan should be written in phrases and simple terms that can later be put into sentences.

Use the graphic organizer to plan your paragraph.

- O Write the ideas for your opening sentence to introduce your topic and captivate your reader.
- D Write details to support your topic. Then, write an example for each detail.
- E Write the ideas to conclude your paragraph and bring it to a successful close.
Lesson 37 – Persuasive Paragraph Draft

Drafting is the simple process of taking the ideas from your plan and converting them into sentences. At this stage in the writing process, it is acceptable to focus on communicating your ideas effectively rather than trying to perfect your writing.

Sample from today’s video lesson:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>O</th>
<th>December best month</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>Weather and temperatures</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E</td>
<td>Cold, snow, ice</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>Holiday celebrations</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>E</td>
<td>Christmas, food, presents, decorations, birthday</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>December is the best</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

December is the best month of the year. The weather is absolutely delicious. I love the cold temperatures, and there is often snow and ice. There are also celebrations in December. There are presents for Christmas and lots of food and decorations. Of all the months in the year, December is my favorite.

Can you convince me?
Revision is the process of taking what you have written and making changes in order to make your writing more effective. Using stronger verbs, replacing words, or simply changing sentence structure can improve communication.

Remember, you do not have to change everything you have written. Simply make changes, where necessary, to improve your paragraph.

DRAFT
I can call them. I can send texts. There are chat apps, too. I can even Skype.

REVISED DRAFT
I can call them, send texts, or even Skype at the drop of a hat.

Revise your draft. Start by reading your draft out loud, touching each word as you read. Search for opportunities to add or change words, phrases, or sentences to improve your writing.

Reading your draft out loud and touching each word as you read will help you revise more effectively.

- Touching each word will help you focus on one thing at a time.
- Additionally, you might notice things you didn’t see before when you hear yourself read.

Read your draft aloud, touching each word as you read.
