Page 36	Lesson 11, Day2: Verb Phrases & Adjective Phrases	Answers may vary. Sample Paragraph: For my perfect day, I would travel on a fancy, luxurious jet. In the morning, I would stop in Miami, Florida and casually view the sunset while consuming a perfectly cooked omelet and a hot, steamy mocha. After swimming in the ocean, I would quickly hop back on the plane to Paris, France. Once there, I would have lunch in a little quaint café, explore the Louvre Museum, and look at the Eiffel Tower. In the evening, I would fly back to America to New York City. Following a walk around Times Square, I would eat sushi. The night would end by attending a flawlessly executed Broadway production.
Page 37	Lesson 13, Day 2: #4 Simple Sentences & Compound Sentences	The correct answer is below. Classical music is one of the best music genres to listen to because it increases one's cognitive abilities. [It stimulates brain activity], {and} [it helps the brain access new neural pathways.] The combination of relaxing harmonies and melodies activate regions of the brain responsible for focusing, memory, and problem-solving. Additionally, classical music promotes relaxation and creates a calming atmosphere. These mental benefits can be helpful for students doing homework or for adults performing mentally taxing tasks.
